

Monthly Calendar

September and Christmas has begun
Calendars and cards even gifts for everyone
Whilst we watch trees showing signs of turning
To rich reds and golds too early for shopping

October now the shops display their skills
Designed creations for the seasonal thrills
Thus tempting customers to spend
Halloween fights for space in the end

November seems too early to get into the mood
Is present buying left too late cannot think of food
For little children it seems Christmas is here
The fireworks come second again this year

December now is the time to appreciate
All the sparkle the atmosphere to celebrate
A Christmas to enjoy with Family and Friends
Just wait for the New Year as the season ends

January sales and unwanted gifts to think about
Now we shall see all Valentine cards no doubt
Added to which there will be Easter cards to buy
Never mind September starts Christmas again I sigh
